

XM is not interfering with the NAB's rights by broadcasting local traffic. If the NAB feels threatened it should improve its services, not try to level the playing field by diminishing the quality of programming available to us, the consumers. In many cases the services offered by XM and Sirius save both time and fuel, something which is very important to the continued improvement of our economy. Please consider this argument when deciding and I am sure that you will come to right decision.

Scincerely

Mario Martinez, Jr. MBA